SUNBATHERS — These two girls have found a good spot at Macatawa Park to work on their suntans. They are protected by a sand dune from the cool breeze blowing off Lake Michigan and can watch the boats cruising through the channel. The two are Pat Wynn, 13, (left) and Pam Dobbin, 12. Both girls are from Montongrove, Ill. Across the channel is Holland State Park where crowds of people went Wednesday to escape the 90-degree heat.

Former City Treasurer Committed

Alden Stoner Declared Insane; Charged With Embezzlement of Funds

GRAND HAVEN — Former Holland City Treasurer Alden J. Stoner was judged insane following a sanity hearing in Ottawa Circuit Court today, and committed immediately to the Ionia State Hospital.

Stoner was taken to Ionia late this morning by sheriff's officers, accompanied by his lawyer, George Lievens of Holland.

Two psychiatrists, Dr. A. F. Dasler of Muskegon and Dr. Leonard Rosenzweig of Grand Rapids testified at today's hearing for Stoner, who was charged with embezzlement of Holland city tax monies.

Stoner, 41, was granted a leave of absence from his duties as city treasurer on Oct. 18, 1962, for reasons of health. At that time, a complete audit of city funds was made.

The audit conducted by Dwight Ferris, certified public accountant, disclosed shortages amounting to about $5,000.

Stoner was relieved of his position on Dec. 31, 1962.

Stoner was charged with appropriating to his own use $145 paid by P. H. Langevelde of Holland, Ferris took the stand at Stoner's Municipal Court arraignment, where exhibits of tax payment receipts and checks were also shown, and Stoner was bound over to Circuit Court.

He stood mute in Circuit Court when arraigned on the embezzlement charge, and a plea of innocent was ordered in his case. Judge Smith later ordered the sanity hearing.

Mrs. Rose St. John was named acting city treasurer following Stoner's leave of absence. After Stoner's dismissal, Jack Leenhouts was named treasurer.

Water Usage At 2-Day High

A two-day record for water usage was set Tuesday when the Holland water works pumped 8,300,000 gallons of water which, combined with Monday's pumpage, brought the new two-day total to 17,000,000. This is 3,000,000 gallons more than the previous two-day record set last August.

The one-day record for water consumption was set Monday when the plant pumped 8,700,000 gallons of water to residents of the city.

Superintendent of Public Works Guy E. Bell attributed the high consumption to the hot weather and lack of rain. He said the plant was sufficiently equipped to handle a continued use of this amount.

Normally summer usage ranges from 5,000,000 to 7,000,000 gallons a day, while in the winter it drops to approximately 3,000,000.

RESCUED PETUNIAS — It seemed a shame to Miss Julia Kuite that a new city power pole should be placed in the middle of her petunia patch on the northwest corner of Pine Ave. and 10th St. Board of Public Works employees, making measurements along the line where the new wires are to be strung, had pounded a stake into the middle of the patch, marking it as the spot for a pole. But BPW Superintendent Guy E. Bell, who appreciates the beauty of well-tended flower beds, was sympathetic when Miss Kuite called him to see if something could be done. Bell said the pole would be placed about ten feet to the north of the flower bed. A beaming Miss Kuite remarked, "He certainly was cooperative." Lynn Friedrich of The Sentinel news staff points out the stake in the middle of the nearly-doomed petunia patch. (Sentinel photo)

City Manager Outlines Basis Of Capital Improvement Fund

In a letter accompanying the 1963-64 operating budget for the city of Holland City Manager, Herb Holt outlines some of the factors influencing the decision to continue transferring revenue obtained from the operation of municipal utilities to the city's capital improvement fund.

The budget, printed in its final form last week, earmarks $100,000 of the electric department's earnings to the fund, and directs another $175,000 to the city's general operating fund.

The combined $275,000 represents 50 per cent of the revenue which the department expects to receive in profits for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The other $275,000 will be retained by the department to meet its depreciation and expansion schedules while allowing it to provide a meaningful return to the city's general fund.

The $100,000 was the amount approved by the City Council last May 1, following extensive public discussion of the issue. This figure was $50,000 short of the amount Holt originally requested be transferred from the electrical department's earnings to the capital improvement fund.

In his letter, Holt cites evidence presented by the Fannus Company which studied the prospects Holland presented as a site for future industry. Holt said their report emphasized the need to continue to "make proper provisions for capital improvements and housekeeping."

The capital improvement fund was established by the council in 1955. As of April 30, 1963, $274,326.26 had been put into the fund, including $192,499.51 which had been transferred from the electrical department earnings. As of this time, expenditures had amounted to $187,286.37 leaving a balance of $87,039.89 of which $60,039 was available for immediate use.

The decision to transfer some of the electric department's earnings to the improvement fund also aims, Holt said, at making the city's general operating fund less dependent on the electrical department for its funds.

"To tax the utility excessively now for general operation of the city could lead to a situation where the general fund would be increasingly dependent on the utility for a large portion of its revenues with the utility becoming increasingly unable to supply the fund," Holt said.

Holt explained that the profits of the electrical department may vary from year to year, and if the city were too dependent upon the utility for its operating funds, a high property tax rate might be necessary to provide the funds in a year when utility earnings were down.

Holt said the report of the Fannus company emphasized the importance of a "reasonable and stable tax" in providing a sound financial basis for a city.

TODAY'S TODDLERS ARE TOMORROW'S DRIVERS

Psychologists tell us that the environment of early childhood has a profound effect upon the traits and personalities of children as they grow up. They conclude from this that the parents play an extremely important role in determining what the child will be like merely by the examples that are unconsciously set for the child. Most parents find this out about the time they become grandparents but the parent who makes this discovery while his children are still very young can use this psychological fact very effectively.

For instance, All parents sooner or later must watch their teenage children drive off in the family car. If they are typical parents they will admonish the new driver with dozens of do's and don'ts and try to re-emphasize all the dangers involved. But if the psychologists are correct, the behavior patterns for the new driver will have been determined years ago by the experiences he had
as a child with one of his parents at the wheel. A craving for speed, racing the lights, fast stops and starts, cursing other drivers, or just plain lack of concentration or courtesy while driving are all attitudes that parents unconsciously transmit to their children even before the children are anywhere near driving age.

This observation places a tremendous responsibility on the parents of young children for acting in an exemplary manner whenever they are driving with the family.
It is especially appropriate to remember this during the summer
when most families have opportunities to enjoy summer driving outings together. The fearful traffic death toll which often involves teenage drivers can best be reduced by producing a more skillful generation of drivers and this task begins when they are toddlers in the family car.

On the other hand the damage
that can be done by an irresponsible young parent careening wildly down the street with a stain-wagon load of children is incalculable.

Psalm 146
By C. P. Dame
During the last ten Sundays we have been studying various Psalms. This lesson concludes the series which should have helped us in our Christian life. It is good that we close the series with a Psalm that calls upon us to praise
the Lord.

I. It is very fitting that we praise the Lord.

Psalm 146 is one of the five Psalms which begins and ends with the words, "Praise ye the Lord." These five are called the "Hallelujah Psalms." These
Psalms are used by modern Jews as part of the liturgy for the Saturday morning service.

A reading of these Psalms will help us to catch the spirit of praise. We are all quick to send petitions to God but most of us are too slow in giving Him praise.
The writer calls upon himself
to praise God. "Praise the Lord, O my soul." This is a good example for us to follow.

He was determined to praise the Lord during his whole life. His words, "While I live" could be followed by phrases such as,
"While I am young," or "While I have my health" or "While I am able." I will praise the Lord, who is most deserving of our praise.

Some people put their trust in the princes of industry, labor or the church but this is unwise for they can't give help. Leaders get publicity for a short time but most of them are soon forgotten. Why then put confidence in them?

After summoning himself to praise God the Psalmist urges others.

II. Happy is the man who has God for his helper.

The words, "the God of Jacob" is "a covenant keeping God." He merits our praise because He created this universe and sustains it by His power. God's creation speaks of His power. God is able to keep His promises. He is trustworthy too and hence we can rely upon Him.

Sometimes people ask, "What is God doing?" The Psalmist portrays His activities. Note the phrases, "Which executeth judgment," "giveth food to the hungry," "loose the prisoners,"
"openeth the eyes of the blind,"
"raiseth them that are bowed down," "loveth the righteous,"
"relieveth the fatherless and widow; but the way of the wicked
He turned upside down."

All of these phrases speak of an active God whose deeds deserve praise. As individuals and congregations we should praise God. Let us think upon the best ways we can do that.

III. God rules for ever.

This is a truth we should remember in these times of change and upheavals. Hitler dreamed that Germany would last one thousand years and the communists think the future is theirs.

We know that God will rule endlessly and this means the eventual downfall of all evil and unrighteousness for God will see to it that justice and righteousness will triumph. May the study of this Psalm cause us all to praise God more fervently.

Federal Aid Grant Now Fully Paid

The third and final payment from the federal government for aid in construction of Holland's new sewage treatment plant has been received by the city. Board of Public Works officials said today. Superintendent of utilities Guy E. Bell said the final payment of $25,000 brings the total to $250,000 that the city has received as a federal grant for the sewage project. Payment was made by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Health.

The $250,000 grant was paid in three installments. The first payment of $179,100 was received 13 months ago. At that date work on the sewage treatment plant was approximately 80 per cent complete and the federal aid payment was equal to 28 per cent of the total contract cost. The second payment of $45,900 was received last month, bringing the amount received to 90 per cent of the total grant.

Payment of the final ten per cent was withheld pending an audit of the project by the department of Health, Education and Welfare. On May 23 a member of grant-in-aid audit staff was in Holland and made an examination of all records on the sewage project and also made an inspection of the completed sewage facilities.

According to BPW officials, receiving the federal allotment for the local sewage disposal plant releases for other sewage improvements funds which were originally earmarked for this specific work. Supt. Bell said that the board plans to use the released funds to extend additional trunk sewer lines into new areas of the city and other related sewage improvements.

Three such projects are already under way. Contracts have been let and work is progressing on two highway crossings, one at 16th St. and U.S. 31 bypass and the other at M-40 and U.S. 31 bypass. The third project is the installation of an interceptor sewer in 40th St. from Columbia Ave. to Lincoln Ave. and in Lincoln Ave. from 40th St. to south of the U.S. 31 bypass. Also approved is the extension of trunkline sewers into the Apple Avenue area. Bell said that acquiring the trunkline sewer on East 16th St. which was put in by the General Electric Co. in 1954 would also be paid from the released funds. Purchase of this sewer line was approved by the City Council Wednesday.

Miss Vogelzang Becomes Bride of D. Swierenga

In a pretty summer candlelight wedding ceremony at 8:30 Tuesday evening in Maple Avenue Christian Church Miss Mary Ann Vogelzang, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Vogelzang, Jr., of 158 East 34th St., became the bride of Donald Swierenga, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Swierenga, Sr., of Cicero, Ill.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. J. Herbert Brink, the bride's pastor. Pre-ceremony music and the traditional wedding march was played by Mrs. Peter Tuls, aunt of the bride, and during the entrance of the bride, the trumpet, accompanied by the organ. Prior to the ceremony, Gerald Kuiper, a friend of the groom, sang "Oh Perfect Love."

In a setting of palms, ferns and bouquets of all white stock and Acallion daisies, offset by a pair of spiral candelabra, and centered with the candelabra tree, Miss Vogelzang approached the altar on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of imported lace over bridal taffeta. The all lace bodice was fitted and featured a scalloped bateau neckline accented with seed pearl embroidery. The full-length sleeves tapered to points at the wrists.

The bouffant skirt which had wide inserts of matching imported lace, was gathered at the waistline with the fullness extending into a hoop skirt. A shoulder-length veil of silk illusion net was held in place by a pearl encrusted crown headpiece. The bride carried a white Bible topped with a cascade of white roses, centered with a white orchid and tulle streamers entwined with lily of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Kristen Vogelzang, sister of the bride, was crowned in chromspun organza over pale jonquil taffeta. Style features were the scoop neckline which tapered to the "V" in the back, elbow-length sleeves, and a bouffant bell-shaped skirt, accented by a self bow in the back. Her headpiece was a crown of yellow and white daisies topped by a yellow net illusion veil.

The bridesmaids, Miss Grace Swierenga, sister of the groom, Miss Vera Velderman, and Miss Marlene Hendrickson wore identical gowns and headpieces. All carried natural wood baskets of white daisies and streamers of ivy and white ribbon.

John Davids, cousin of the groom, performed the honors of best man. Relatives and friends were ushered to candlelit pews by Richard Houskamp, brother-in-law of the groom, John Vogelzang III, brother of the bride and John Swierenga Jr., Cicero, brother of the groom.

Allegan School Seeks Damages

ALLEGAN — Armed with an engineering firm's report citing 32 points in Allegan's six-year-old high school at which wall stresses are "10 per cent to 100 per cent above acceptable safety standards," the board of education has started suit for damages totaling $14,000 against the architects, Guido A. Binda and Associates, Battle Creek, and the firm's bonding company, Federal Insurance Company of New Jersey.

The architects are charged with "negligence, carelessness, heedless disregard of duties to the school board... improper and lax supervision of building while under construction."

The bill of complaint indicates that Binda's contract with the school board ran from May 23, 1955, to October 2, 1961. The building constructed in 1957, cost $929,187.84.

The suit charges that early this January, the canopy over the sidewalk at the entrance to the south wing collapsed, "falling with great force... children would have been killed or injured if under it at the time."

According to Rex Orton, attorney for the school board, the board then employed Williams and Works, Grand Rapids engineering firm, to make a complete examination of the building's structural soundness.

The firm reported finding 32 points in the school where supporting beams rested on piers made from hollow concrete blocks, resulting in stresses on supporting walls "being 10 per cent to 100 per cent above acceptable standards for safety."

The bill of complaint also charges that the building is "not structurally sound, due to improper design; portions of interior and exterior walls have settled, cracked, chipped, bulged and become dangerous and unsightly."

The suit charges that when the crumbling and settling walls were brought to the architect's attention, Binda "carelessly recommended that jacks be installed under said beams."

The school board contends that "jacks are unsightly and not in keeping with a new building constructed at cost of $1,000,000."

According to the complaint, the architect permitted the general contractor and sub-contractors to build "contrary to plans and specifications... the defendant fraudulently concealed defective construction and should have known if reasonable care and caution were exercised."

"Ceiling beams were discovered to be resting on hollow concrete blocks instead of solid core concrete and without reinforcing steel bars," it was charged.

General contractor for the project was the Har-Beck Construction Company, Grand Rapids, a corporation which was dissolved, Jan. 22, 1959, shortly after the school building was occupied.

Orton said the school board could not seek punitive damages in its action, but only the amount needed to restore the building to a "sound basis."

Expense of replacing the sidewalk canopy was estimated at $1,000 and the cost of restoring walls, ceilings, redecorating, removing blocks beneath beams and filling with concrete cores and reinforcing plates at $5,000.

More than 16,000 Kiwanians and their families from the United States, Canada, Mexico, and the Bahamas are expected to gather for the four and a half day event. Convention sessions will be held in Atlantic City's Convention Hall. David James Schipper, 215 South State St., Zeeland, son of Supt. and Mrs. J. F. The chicken barbecue will again be offered at the $1 per plate price, including one-half of a chicken, salad and other trimmings. The chicken barbecue served between 1300 and 1500 persons during the past two Summer Festivals.

Holiday-Bound Vacationers Will Find Holland Ready

Summer resorts, the kind people used to go to, are non-existent in the Holland area anymore, except for The Castle at Castle Park on Lake Michigan.

Instead, a fine crop of new motels and boatels have sprung up along Lake Michigan and Lake Macatawa. The surrounding area is also well-dotted with good, clean cabins.

Macatawa Park, along with Waukazoo and The Castle, still retain a following of families that have private cottages. Generations of summer residents come back, year after year. Grandparents are seen on the beaches with their grandchildren.

Hotel Macatawa and the Waukazoo Inn, for years popular spots for summer resorts, succumbed to time and age and progress. More permanent type cottages have been built on these sites and activities are more private in scope.

Owners of motels and others with summer accommodations find that their clients are more mobile and move about rather than staying at any one place any length of time. Trailers, boat trailers and station wagons have changed the picture considerably.

Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati, St. Louis and other cities are well-represented among persons staying in the area any length of time.

Marinas, yacht clubs, golf courses, fishing sites, boats to rent, water skiing facilities, horse shows, stock car races and almost any activity popular in the summer time is available in the area. A summer theatre is among the popular entertainment.

It will be evident this week that people are arriving for their holidays and the week of July Fourth will bring the greatest number to the area.

Michigan Museums Confab Endorses Windmill Project

The project to bring a genuine Dutch windmill from The Netherlands to the city has received the endorsement of The Michigan Museums Conference.

In a formal resolution adopted at its 11th annual meeting last week in Holland, the Michigan Museums Conference offered its "support and commendation in the bringing of the windmill to Holland", and called its re-establishment in the city a "genuine, typical and well-known symbol of all that the Dutch have brought to America."

At a banquet last Friday evening, Carter Brown, chairman of Project Windmill, reviewed for the delegates the progress which the Mayor's committee has made thus far.

In the spring of 1962, the Netherlands government, which has a policy of preserving windmills for their own national monuments, agreed to a request by project authorities allowing a windmill to be brought to the United States and restored in Holland.

This action by the Dutch government, the resolution said, "recognizes the importance of Holland, Michigan as a center of Dutch influence in America." "The bringing of the windmill to Holland and its availability to the public will enhance the reputation of the city as a focal point in the United States for things Dutch," the statement continued.

The resolution also cited the effort which the windmill, in combination with already existing attractions, would have on attracting Michigan and out-of-state visitors to the area. This it said, "would add to the cultural and economic well-being of its residents and those of the state."

In another resolution the conference offered its formal thanks to the people of Holland, "for their friendly reception and welcome to all who attended the conference."

Local Hospital Employee Wins $500 Contest Prize

TRAVERSE CITY — John W. (Jack) West, a staff pharmacist at Holland City Hospital, was awarded a first prize of $500 for a money-saving, time-saving idea at the annual convention of the Michigan Hospital Association here today.

The Holland man won first prize in his category of hospitals of 51 to 200 beds for developing an outdated drug register. The register enables the hospital to return drugs to the manufacturer before their expiration date. The dollar value varies according to the size of the hospital, but in most cases, the saving can be considerable in the period of a year.

It was the second time that an employee or employees of Holland Hospital shared in prize money in achievements contests inaugurated in 1958. In the first contest, a team of three nurses shared in a $500 prize for developing a program of nursing care in which ambulatory and convalescing patients are segregated from the seriously ill patients, with services provided accordingly.

The contest, fifth this year, is co-sponsored by the Michigan Hospital Association and Michigan Hospital Association and Michigan Blue Cross. In all, 21 hospital employees shared $4,000 in cash prizes. Twenty of the winning entries saved their hospitals nearly $175,000 per year. The reminder were primarily in the area of increased administrative efficiency and improved quality of patient care.

Among those receiving honorable mention certificates were Clarence Vanden Bosch and Benjamin Mellema of Zeeland Community Hospital for a suggestion on a pad dispenser.

Attending the convention from Holland are Hospital Director Frederick S. Burd and Mr. and Mrs. West.

Work Begins On Power Line

The Department of Public Works last week began laying the underground cable for the new 12,500 volt primary power line which will provide the city with three main power lines, instead of the existing two.

G. E. Bell, Superintendent of Public Works, said the third leg is being added to provide consumers along with the line with better service, and to facilitate repairs in the event of a power failure.

The underground cable will run from the power plant, at Third St. and Pine Ave., along Pine Ave. to Seventh St. where a line will be run above ground to 22nd St. From this intersection, it will divide and run east and west to tie-in with the other two legs of the loop system; at 22nd St. and Van Raalte Ave. and at 25th St. and Lincoln Ave.

Above ground work will begin July 1 and continue throughout the summer. Bell said additional utility poles must be placed along Pine Ave.

The project will cost approximately $25,000.

Sophisticated Comedy Opens At Red Barn

Sophisticated comedy at its best "Sunday in New York" by Norman Krasna, deftly handled by a top flight cast, opened Monday night at the Red Barn Theatre.

Situations, often embarrassing to the principals, Bill Cain as the male lead, Mike Mitchell and newcomer Anna Marie Stramese as the ingenue, Eileen, are expertly handled. It is definitely adult entertainment.

The plot unfolds as Eileen Taylor comes to New York to visit her bachelor brother, Adam Taylor, to ask his advice and to find some answers to her problems. She meets Mike Mitchell sports writer turned music critic on a bus, they are caught in the rain, her wealthy fiancé appears unexpectedly and the ensuing confusion is hilarious.

Bruce Hall plays the brother, Adam Taylor, an airline pilot. Don Bonevich is the fiancé, Russell Wilson. Tom Joyce and Janice Music provide several supporting roles to the delight of the audience.

Producer-director Jim Dyas has an excellent set to work with, designed by Don Weber with effective lighting by James Mitchell. The one set for two-act play has 11 scenes. The changing of the set is almost a part of the play as the characters manage to move furniture and other movable props, as smoothly as though they were written into the script.

Bill Cain, Bruce Hall and Don Bonevich can be counted on to give fine performances and rate extra curtain calls. Miss Stramese adds the charm and finesse in her role. Theatre goes this season may expect some fine acting from her.

Patrons from past seasons will be pleased to see their old favorites again. New faces and new talent are added. Director Dyas has selected some fine plays and musicals.

BELL RINGERS — Local high school students find another bell on the back porch of the Dr. John Winter residence at 624 State St. which will be used July 4 in the "Let Freedom Ring" program they are implementing through the YMCA. The program plans for four minutes of bell ringing July 4 of bells throughout the area. Here, Kathy Kooiman of Zeeland High School, tries the school bell out as the other three high school students watch. Left to right, the males are Dave Vanden Bosch of West Ottawa; Paul Van Wyke of Holland Christian and Scott Wyman, general chairman for this area, from Holland High.

High School Youths Seek Bell Ringers for July 4

The Holland-Zeeland YMCA has organized a local group of high school youths to implement Gov. George Romney's plan for a statewide "ringing of the bells" July 4.

These youths will contact all churches, schools and government buildings in this area that have a bell and urge their participation in the project known as "Let Freedom Ring."

In a proclamation issued on the anniversary of Paul Reverie's famous ride, Romney urged all citizens and government bodies to ring the bells in their communities for four minutes at 1 p.m. July "as a solemn tribute to our country's founders."

The program was initiated by two Connecticut men who were concerned that the Fourth of July had evolved more into a summer holiday than a patriotic festival. The chairman for the program in this area is Scott Wyman of Holland High School. Students from Zeeland, West Ottawa, Holland and Holland Christian high schools will assist on the "Let Freedom Ring" committee.

The committee members from Holland Christian, which is contacting all organizations in Holland, are Bill De Mott, Paul Van Wyke, Bruce Joldersma, Bill Dahm and Ed Bos.

From Zeeland and covering the Zeeland area are David De Bruyn, Kathy Kooiman and Ann Van Dorp. Students from West Ottawa who will cover the area north of Holland are David Vanden Bosch, Dennis Weener, Bonnie Black and Charl Weigel.

Assisting the chairman in covering the area south of Holland are Tom Coleman and Mike Van Huis of Holland High School. Approximately 30 organizations have indicated their willingness to ring their bells July 4.

All officers-elect of the V.F.W. take office at the time of the state convention.

Ben Cuperus, who has served Post No. 2144 as service officer for the past three years, received an appointment as department chief of staff by Ernest Stratyck, new commander of the department of Michigan. Cuperus was commander of the Holland post and of the 8th District, V.F.W. as well as filling many other offices.
